SRA Continuing Competency Scheme - What Does the SRA say about Quarterly Assessments?

"We expect you to regularly reflect on your practice and you should dedicate time to do this. You can capture identified learning and development needs in a Development Record.

You can reflect by looking at your performance at scheduled intervals: Looking back over the last [3 months][6 months][12 months], where do I think I am at against my development objectives and am I continuing to provide a proper standard of service?" - SRA Website | See SRA Requirements Here

Make Your Quarterly Assessment As Easy As 1-2-3

The screenshot displays the Datalaw user interface. On the left, a 'CPD COURSES' section shows a question: 'In the last 3 months have you security of all communication'. Below it, an answer is provided: 'Yes, I have complied with all confidentiality and se'. On the right, a dashboard titled 'Summary 2017 - 2018' shows progress metrics: 2 Incomplete CPD (1 Minute), 1 Incomplete CPD (1 Minute), 1 Completed Course (1 Course Started), and 2 Courses In Progress (2 Courses Started). Below this, a 'Statement Quarter 1' section contains a question about understanding commercial, organisational and financial context. At the bottom, there is a 'Suggested Training' section with a progress indicator showing 10% completed.

The 10 minute Self Assessment will analyse your competency and generate a bespoke training plan and SRA competency statement. The CDS will select and assign access to relevant on-demand courses, which will assist you address any specific training needs identified, and ensure compliance with the new SRA CPD scheme. Once you have watched a course in full, this will automatically be tracked and documented within your training plan, and can be used as evidence to support your SRA CPD declaration.
